Concord, NC – Cabarrus Rowan Community Health Centers celebrated a successful National Health Center Week (NHCW) with a series of events throughout the week.

National Health Center Week (August 6 –12) raises awareness about the mission and achievements of America's health centers. Community health centers are the core of their communities, providing care and services to those in need. During challenging times, community health centers still manage to search for new ways to provide primary health care services.

CRCHC hosted a free event each day of National Health Center Week to celebrate. On Monday, August 7, 2023, Cabarrus Rowan Community Health Centers honored “Healthcare for the Homeless” day by dropping off donations to Rowan Helping Ministries. Rowan Helping Ministries and CRCHC have been in partnership with each other for many years. “This is such a valuable partnership that we have developed over the years, and we look forward to their services expanding on our campus. Many of our guests and clients struggle with mental health and don’t have access to medical care. This partnership has ensured that we are able to reach people who are the most vulnerable.” said Kyna Grubb, Executive Director of Rowan Helping Ministries.

On Tuesday, August 8, 2023, CRCHC hosted a Stakeholder Luncheon at the Great Wolf Lodge of Concord and a Back-to-School Bash at the China Grove Community Memorial Building. Wednesday, August 9, 2023, the organization held a ribbon-cutting ceremony for McGill Urgent Care and honored Agricultural Workers at Patterson. “Migrant Health Services is a core component to our healthcare system. We are extremely grateful to continue providing accessible and affordable care.” said Don Holloman, CEO of Cabarrus Rowan Community Health Centers. Thursday, August 10, 2023, CRCHC hosted a second Back-to-School Bash at Logan Family Medicine and Dental Clinic. The organization donated over 300 backpacks filled with school supplies during the week. With over 15 vendors at both Back-to-School events, CRCHC was able to provide a fun and resourceful environment for the community. The week ended with Employee Appreciation Day on Friday, August 11, 2023, at Stars and Strikes in Concord.
